Leading Discussion:

You are each assigned to a small group. Each group will be tasked with leading discussion in an assigned Module. This will require thoughtful planning and careful attention to class readings. You should have done the readings and screened the films prior to the start of your Module. Each group should work together to decide on how best to lead discussion, which questions to ask, what material to add, and how to keep the conversation going. I have created groups on SIU Online, so that groups can discuss their approach prior to leading discussion.

All discussion will take place in the appropriate module on my website. Discussion leaders must create a post where they introduce themselves and post their discussion prompts (you can appoint one person to this, but all group members must actively participate in the discussion.) Discussion leaders MUST post their prompts by noon on the day their module begins (either M or Th.)
